HomeSetlistRankingMultiplayerCustomLive Screengrab: YouTube/DarklyInDarknessIT IS OVER. I'M GOD. GOOD NIGHT reads a description of youTuber DarklyInDarkness's latest video, which he posted Wednesday night. The video shows the streamer achieving what no Guitar Hero player has ever done: not missing a single note (known as Full Combo or FC) in Soulless 4, one of the most ridiculous Guitar Hero songs ever created. Soulless 4 is one of ExileLord's notoriously challenging, user-created songs. The songs have never been commercially released on Guitar Hero and are moaned into the game by diehard players who want an extra challenge. PCGamer once described Soulless 4 as like a ROM hack specially designed to break the hearts (or fingers) of anyone who comes near it. Perhaps unsurprisingly, the perfect song has never been finished until now. I've been playing for about nine years, DarklyInDarkness told Motherboard over Discord. I've been trying to get 'Soulless 4' since the song was actually released, around 2015, when the taps were just mobbed into Guitar Hero 3. Songs like Soulless 4 were amazing to everyone in the community. It's been a three-year effort for me. Soulless 4 is 12 minutes long and requires a variety of gaming techniques, including tapping, rake strumming and rake tapping. There's been a lot of pain in the Guitar Hero community. Many Soulless 4 elements exist only to show changes built into their exilelord Guitar Hero mod, such as tap notes that require two hands to be struck. The conquest of Soulless songs has been going on for years, but only last year DarklyInDarkness completed the full combination run of the first-ever Soulless 2, which was also assumed to be impossible at the time. Acai, another guitar hero YouTuber who went viral for his run on Travis Scott's Sicko Mode, posted a video in January 2018 explaining exactly why he thought Soulless 4 was impossible at the time and would never be FC'd. His video showed that certain segments and transitions of the song require almost impossible achievements of good health and skill that would be difficult enough to do in isolation, let alone in succession. Darkly and Aca's highly public competition for the first Soulless 2 FC run generated a lot of traction on YouTube and Twitch. The hype helped reignnt the Guitar Hero online community and get people interested in Soulless songs again, 8 years after soulless 2 was released. - I don't think you can say that about many other Guitar Hero burdens, if at all. has had the same effect The significance of the feat known as FCing 'Soulless 4' is something that has kind of brought the [Guitar Hero][Guitar Hero] community to life. DarklyInDarkness told us. Points battles between [other players] and me are one of the most active periods in the community I've seen in a long time. People are betting on soulless 4 and it shows. Now that Soulless 4 has been defeated, there is one more mountain for diehard Guitar Hero players to climb. In July, ExileLord released Soulless 5, a longer and more difficult addition to the Soulless song series. DarklyInDarkness said, however, that he intends to give it to him for now. Personally, I don't like playing that song, and neither do people who really have the skills to do it, he told me. I don't think we'll see 'Soulless 5 Done' in the near future.
